HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & COMPANY,

4 Park St., Boston; 11 East Seventeenth St., New York,

PUBLISH THIS WEEK:

Mr. Tommy Dove, and Other Stories.

By MARGARET DELAND, author of "John Ward, Preacher," "Sidney," "The Story of a Child," "The Old Garden," etc. 16mo, $1.00.

Mr. Tommy Dove is one of the most distinct and in a way most charming of Mrs. Deland's characters. His gentleness and shyness, his kindness and genuine goodness, win the heart of the reader as well as Miss Temple's; and it is a satisfaction that the course of true love of these two mild souls, though it could not be otherwise than smooth even when obstructed, eventually led out into sunshine and peace. Thousands will be grateful to Mrs. Deland that she has collected others of her admirable short stories, including "At Whose Door?" "A Fourth-Class Appointment," "Elizabeth," and "The Face on the Wall," into a volume in which Mr. Tommy Dove modestly holds the place of honor.

Old Kaskaskia.

By MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD, author of "The Lady of Fort St. John," etc. 16mo, $1.25.

Mrs. Catherwood in this story proves anew her ability to write historical novels of great power and faithful in reproducing the incidents and figures of bygone years. "Old Kaskaskia" is a story of the early days of Illinois, and brings before us the social, personal and tragic features of the place and epoch as effectively as Mrs. Catherwood reproduced the old days of Acadia in her remarkable story, "The Lady of Fort St. John." It is easily one of the most noteworthy novels of the season.

Columbia's Emblem: Indian Corn.

A Garland of Tributes in Prose and Verse. 16mo, paper, 25 cents; cloth, 40 cents.

The little book contains poems on Indian Corn, and brief essays on its value and beauty, by Edna Dean Proctor, Celia Thaxter, John Fiske, Longfellow, Whittier, President Hayes, Sidney Lanier, F. H. Cushing and others.

Oberon and Puck.

Verses Grave and Gay. By HELEN GRAY CONE, author of "The Ride to the Lady," etc. 16mo, $1.00.

Miss Cone's previous volume of poetry, "The Ride to the Lady," will be remembered as one of those books which contained genuine poetry. And of this new issue of "Oberon and Puck" the same may be said. It is a collection of verses, written in varying moods and full of the real poetic spirit.

A Country Doctor.

A Novel. By SARAH ORNE JEWETT. Riverside Paper Series. 16mo, 50 cents.

This is a delightful New England novel, written with remarkable truth to nature and with great humor and charm of style.

NOTES IN SEASON.

LOVELL, CORYELL & COMPANY have just issued another collection of James W. Barrie's delightful stories entitled "Two of Them."

THOMAS WHITTAKER has in preparation an appropriate literary souvenir of the World's Fair and Columbian year in a special edition of "The Story of the Discovery of the New World by Columbus." Mr. F. Saunders, librarian of the Astor Library, in this volume gives us a skilful and excellent sketch, drawn chiefly from accepted authorities.

D. LOTHROP COMPANY announce as nearly ready Rev. J. F. Cowan's "Endeavor Doin's Down to the Corners," a quaint description of the Christian Endeavor work accomplished in a country village. It is told in the droll Yankee vernacular with all those odd phrases and bits of humor peculiar to the Yankee tongue, and it shows the real scope of this work as no statistics could.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready the second volume of the superb illustrated edition of Green's "Short History of the English People;" "Raftmates," a narrative of an adventurous voyage down the Mississippi from Minnesota to Louisiana, by Kirk Munroe, illustrated by W. A. Rogers; "The Story of a Boy, and other stories," by Brander Matthews; "The Unexpected Guests," a new farce by W. D. Howells, and "The Rivals," a characteristic story by that prince of story-tellers, François Coppée, two new volumes in Harper's Black and White Series; and "Adventures in Thule" in the convenient revised edition of William Black's novels.

THE OPEN COURT PUB. CO. announce a new Library Edition in paper covers of their most popular publications, which will appear at intervals of a fortnight at uniform prices. Among the issues already planned are Max Müller's "Three Introductory Lectures on the Science of Thought" and "Three Lectures on the Science of Language;" Paul Carus' "The Religion of Science," "The Arrangement of Knowledge" and "The Ethical Problem;" Theodore Ribot's "The Psychology of Attention," and "The Diseases of Personality;" and Alfred Binet's "The Psychic Life of Micro-Organisms" and "On Double Consciousness." These works may also be subscribed for by the year in advance and will come much cheaper if taken in this way.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. have just ready Margaret Deland's new volume, "Mr. Tommy, and other stories," which contains besides the title-story "At Whose Door," "A Fourth-Class Appointment," "Elizabeth" and "The Face on the Wall;" "Old Kaskaskia," a story of the early days of Illinois, by Mary Hartwell Catherwood; "Columbia's Emblem: Indian Corn," a collection of prose and verse on the value and beauty of corn selected by Miss Candace Wheeler; "Oberon and Puck," a collection of verses, by Helen Gray Cone; Sarah Orne Jewett's "A Country Doctor," in the Riverside Paper Series; and in The Riverside Literature Series, No. 58, "The Cricket on the Hearth," and Nos. 57 and 58, Dickens' "Christmas Carol" and "Cricket on the Hearth," in one volume.

D. APPLETON & CO. will publish shortly in their Town and Country Library a remarkable novel of incident, entitled "Singularly Deluded," by the author of "Ideala." The new and revised edition of the standard American guide-book, "Appletons' General Guide to the United States and Canada," will contain an illustrated description of the Columbian Exposition, with other new and important features. The editor of this work has travelled through the country in the interest of the "Guide," and additional information has been supplied by special correspondents at important points. In addition to full information regarding railway and steamboat routes, hotels and places and features of special interest, the "Guide" contains a multitude of daily itineraries planned for the special convenience of sightseers in large cities. They have in press a translation of Waliszewski's "Life of Catherine II. of Russia," which has had a remarkable success in Paris.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no prices, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Allen, Don, (pseud.) The resurrection of Jesus: an agnostic's view. N. Y., The Truthseeker Co., [1893.] c. 3–161 p. D. cl., 75 c.; pap., 40 c.

The theory advanced by the author is "that the body of Jesus was by the orders of Pilate taken out of the sepulchre in which it was laid—that the Roman guards were knowing to the fact when it occurred—that it was secreted elsewhere in order to quiet the tumult that had been raised on account of the crucifixion—that it had the effect for which it was intended. . . ."

Appleton's library atlas of modern geography; containing the latest complete maps of every country of the world, the several states in the United States of America and the provinces in the Dominion of Canada; with a full gazetteer and indexes and illustrated descriptive text of each country and state, based on the results of the latest census. Barrett, Frank. Kitty's father. N. Y., Tait, Sons & Co., [1893.] 5–335 p. D. (Holyrood ser., no. 6.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

Two card-sharpers, coming at day-break into the English town of Chichester, enter the vicarage garden and while refreshing themselves with the vicar's strawberries witness a horrible scene; a man comes from the vicarage dragging the corpse of an old man which he hides in the well—and the sharpers suppose they see a murderer disposing of his victim. This incident is the basis of the story, two men being suspected of the murder, one of whom of course being innocent. Kitty is an actress, the story of her career carrying the reader behind the scenes of a variety of provincial theatres.

Bell, W. S., comp. A handbook of free thought; cont. in condensed and systematized form a vast amount of evidence against the superstitious doctrines of Christianity; selected by W. S. Bell. N. Y., The Truthseeker Co., [1893.] 3–381 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

Carey, Rosa Nouchette. Little Miss Muffet. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1893. c. '92. 3–328 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

Little Miss Muffet had been christened Effie Beresford, and was the only daughter in a happy-go-lucky English country family. She was adored by her brothers and the servants and animals, but was the despair of her conventional mother and her many unsuccessful governesses. She was very clever and incorrigibly idle. At seventeen she is sent to her aunt's to be educated with her model cousin, Virginia. She winds herself about many hearts and at the critical moment of her life displays heroic unselfishness.

Chamier, Dan. A manual of Roman law. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 12–233 p. 12°, cl., net, $1.60.

Conway, Katherine E. A dream of lilies. Bost., J. G. Cupples Co., 1893. 64+10 p. 12°, cl., $1.50; $1.25.

Dandelyon, Ritter, (pseud.) Rheingrafenstein: a romance of the eleventh century. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham, 1893. c. 6–314 p. D. pap., 50 c.

The heir of Rheingrafenstein, an old German castle, was summoned from his monastery to his father's death-bed. He there met his beautiful young stepmother. The incidents of the Crusade of 1096 under Godfrey of Bouillon furnish the setting for a romantic tale of love and war.

Davies, T: A. A Biblical discovery: am I Jew or Gentile? or, the created origin of the races. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham, [1893.] c. 2+187 p. D. cl., $1.

The author has worked for forty years to gather his evidence against the accuracy of the Bible as it appears in the received translations. He believes that Adam was a name given to the created heads of five races of the human family, and that "The Adam," the husband of Eve, was the head of the Hebrew Jewish line only. He points out the need of a Bible that will give a correct account of the creation and a correct genealogy of Jesus Christ, and thinks the clergy and churches should be assisted towards that end.

Droysen, J: Gustav. Outline of the principles of history, (Grundriss der historik;) with a biographical sketch of the author; tr. by E. B: Andrews. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1893. c. 31+122 p. D. cl., $1.10.

Skeletons of lectures delivered by the late Prof. Droysen in 1857 and 1858 upon the encyclopedia and methodology of history; useful to teachers as a basis for amplification.

Duff, Sir Mounstuart E. Grant. Ernest Renan: in memoriam. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 320 p. 8°, cl., $1.75.

Duhring, Julia. Mental life and culture: essays and sketches, educational and literary; ed. by her brother, L: A. Duhring, M.D. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1893. c. 4+256 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Contents: Moral influence in the school-room: a potent factor; How shall children be instructed?; Classification of pupils according to intelllect; Be true to your individuality; On believing in luck; The day dreamer; An amateur author's impedimenta; A literary woman's worst misfortune; Originality in reading; Pleasure in books; Aristocrats of intellect; Defence of the press; Walt Whitman's so-called poetry; Verboekhoven and his studio; Women wage-earners; Drunkenness a crime; Some thoughts on religion, etc. The titles quoted only represent a few of the forty-six papers included in the volume.

Dunbar, Newell. Phillips Brooks, the man, the preacher and the author: based on the "estimate" of Newell Dunbar; with an introd. by Jos. Cook, and a supplementary chapter from F: W. Farrar, D.D., to which are added selections from the writings of the late great divine; il. with por. and views of the scenes of his life and labors. Bost., J: K. Hastings, 1893. c. '91, '93. 18+215+76 p. D. subs., cl., $2; hf. seal, $2.75.

A memorial volume to the great preacher; the pages are adorned by a violet border, and the work is in a white and gold binding.

Egan, Maurice Francis. A marriage of reason. Balt., J: Murphy & Co., 1893. c. 3+344 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A novel of real life, written from a Catholic standpoint; the scene is laid in a suburb of Philadelphia, where the "select few" reside. The story of the pretty heroine is told with both humor and pathos. The weaknesses of the society people of Philadelphia are very cleverly satirized. The moral is against "mixed" marriages.

Ellis, H. H., comp. How to double your speed: a compendium of valuable suggestions for typewriters. Grand Rapids, Mich., [published by the author,] H. H. Ellis, 1893. 3-20 p. D. pap., 25 c.

Euripides. Electra; ed. with introd., notes and appendix by C: Haines Keene. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 8°, cl., net, $3.50.

Ford, Clarence. The life and letters of Madame de Krudener. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 322 p. 8°, cl., $4.50.

Forging the sword; or, the holy war. N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, 1893. 5-207 p. il. D. cl., 60 c.

After a conversation between Charles Evelyn and his uncle about ancient armor, the latter proposes that they devote three evenings of each week to discussing the separate parts of a suit of armor. The sword as an important accessory is fully discussed, and relative history of the weapon is brought out in a story of moral purpose.

Forrester, Mrs. —, [pseud. for Mrs. Bridges.] Dearest. N. Y., Tait, Sons & Co., [1893.] c. 2-376 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A story of family life in a well-appointed English country home. A worldly, selfish mother, a pair of pink and white twin daughters, the "ugly duckling" younger daughter and the step-son and brother who is head of the house, are the characters of importance upon whom "Dearest," the governess, exercises her fascinations to her own benefit and their perfect satisfaction.

Foss, S: Walter. Back country poems. Bost., Mass., Potter Pub. Co., cor. Stanhope and Morgan Sts., 1892 [1893.] 258 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Fothergill, Jessie. Orioles' daughter. N. Y., Tait, Sons & Co., [1893.] c. '92. 3-321 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Minna Hastings, a widow of twenty-eight in good circumstances, is studying art in Rome. Forced to change her boarding-house, she drifts into the "Casa Dietrich" where Signor Orioles, reduced in circumstances, is doing duty as waiter. The landlady's daughter Fulvia awakens her sympathies, and after she is unhappily married Mrs Hastings becomes her guardian angel. The scene shifts to England. The story covers about eight years. Then Fulvia leaves her husband and ends her days in Sicily as Orioles' daughter.

Frink, H: G. Tax the railroads, thereby indirectly taxing the people, to raise revenue for support of the government. Published by the author. N. Y., H: G. Frink, 234 Broadway, [1893.] 16 p. D. pap., 10 c.

Fuller, Anna. A literary courtship: under the auspices of Pike's Peak. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1893. c. 4+184 p. T. cl., $1.

One evening at the "Pow-wow," a New York club, several men discussing the question of why women writers had so often used men's names as pseudonyms, conclude, with the exception of John Brunt, a successful writer, that it is because a man obtains a hearing and recognition quicker than a woman. Brunt, to test his belief that if a book has merit it will make its way whether a man or woman's name is on the title-page, issues his next novel under the nom de plume of "Lilian Leslie Lamb." Another "Lilian Leslie Lamb" living at Colorado Springs, opening a correspondence with her supposed namesake, an amusing series of incidents follow.

Gordon, Julien, [pseud. for Mrs. Van Rensselaer Cruger.] His letters. N. Y., Cassell Pub. Co., [1893.] c. '92. 3+280 p. D. cl., $1.

A series of letters written by an educated man of the world to a beautiful society woman and famous artist; they depict all the various stages of an ardent passion from the first moment the hero is attracted to the lady through the genius he recognizes in her paintings at the art gallery, through the period of waiting when he professes only to be her devoted friend, until the time arrives when he is permitted to kneel at her feet. The letters tell the story with the aid of a few explanations given by a friend.

Grey, Maxwell, [pseud. for M. G. Tuttiett.] The last sentence. N. Y., Tait, Sons & Co., [1893.] c. 346 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The old theme of a secret marriage between a gentleman and a maid of low degree is developed with all the tragic and emotional power of the author of "The silence of Dean Maitland." The story opens in Brittany, where Renée Kéronac becomes the wife of the young English barrister who has visited her remote home on a sketching tour. Returning to England alone, the young husband enters upon a course of deceit which culminates in the tragic death of the deserted wife and the abandonment of her young child. He marries again and becomes a chief justice, the strong plot reaching a thrilling climax when the deserted child is tried for child-murder before her own father and from his lips receives the fatal "last sentence."

Harland, Marion, [pseud. for Mrs. Ma. V. H. Terhune.] Jessamine: a novel. New ed. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham, 1891 [1893.] c. '89. 7-387 p. D. (Madison sq. ser., no. 61.) pap., 25 c.

Harrison, Mrs. B:, Windom, Mrs. W:, Wanamaker, Mrs. J:, and others. The Columbian memorial cook-book: the most complete and valuable cook-book in the world; statesmen's dishes; practical autographic receipts. N. Y., G. W. Dillingham, 1893. c. '90. 3-222 p. D. pap., 25 c.

Published in 1890 as "The Washington cook-book."

Hartmann, Jacob, M.D. The creation of God. N. Y., The Truthseeker Co., [1893.] 432 p. il. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.
The writer is a graduate of American, Canadian and British medical schools. He treats the whole subject of life, the creation of the world, etc., from a purely scientific standpoint. Chapters describe the solar and planetary system, the composition of the terrestrial globe, its atmosphere, its relation to life, etc. There are other chapters on organic life, vegetable and animal; food and food-substances; elimination of waste substances; digestion, nutrition; alcohol and its effects on the system; the soul, what is it? sin and salvation, etc., and upon what the writer calls "the idea of God" and "church superstitions."

Hawthorne, Julian, ed. The confessions of a convict; il. from life. Phil., Rufus C. Hartranft, 1893. c. 3-288 p. il. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.
In his preface Mr. Hawthorne states that this diary was really written by a convict while serving a term in Auburn Prison. His reminiscences embrace many entertaining stories of prison life and vivid pictures of the officials and of his fellow-convicts, some of whom are easy of recognition under their pseudonyms. The notorious Jimmy Hope, the bank robber, was the bench companion of the writer in the workshop for two years, the picturesque adventures of his extraordinary career being embraced in the convict's narrative.

Hoppin, Emily Howland. From out of the past: the story of a meeting in Touraine. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1893. c. 5-238 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.
A slender thread of plot holds together descriptions of pleasant wanderings in Touraine. The successful artist Allan Doane meets his old love Margaret Rivers, recently widowed, and her bewitching daughter Hester. They wander for days among the historic scenes of southern France. The romance is skilfully managed and the climax left in doubt to the very end.

Horton, Rob. F. Verbum Dei: the Yale lectures on preaching, 1893. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. c. 2-300 p. D. cl., $1.50.
Nine lectures by the author of "Revelation and the Bible," sometime fellow of New College, Oxford. They are entitled: The theme; The word of the Lord came; The word in the New Testament; The Bible and the word of God; The word of God outside the Bible; On receiving the word; The logos; The preacher's personality; Methods and modes.

Huntington, Burton Ames, comp. The coming American civil war: Washington's words of warning, Lincoln's apprehension, and the prophecy of General Grant; the indications of coming conflict abundant and certain. Minneapolis, Minn., published by the author, Burton Ames Huntington, [for sale by The Western War Assoc., St. Paul, Minn., 1013 Pioneer Press Building,] 1893. 300 p. 12°, pap., 50 c.

Jacoby, Rev. J. C. Around the home table. Phil., published for the author, Rev. J. C. Jacoby, by the Lutheran Pub. Soc., [1893.] c. '92. 307 p. D. cl., $1.

The story opens in Provence. The hero is first seen in the procession of the Fête Dieu as one of a trio of angels. Soon after this, in accordance with his own wish, he is entered as a candidate for the naval school; failing in his examination he becomes, in place of what he first aspired to be, a common sailor. His history after this social descent is made up of eventful failures, some adventures and several episodes of love; the story is chiefly interesting as a character study.

A reprint with many additions and alterations of the article "Roman history," which appeared in the last edition of the "Encyclopædia Britannica." The aim has been to give such a sketch of the general course of Roman history as may enable the reader to follow the main lines of movement and grasp the characteristic features of the different periods. The larger space is devoted to the period which extends from the tribunate of the elder Graccus to the fall of Nero (133 B C -69 A.D.), as being the period which it is most necessary for a student of Roman history to understand. A list of four pages is given of the principal modern authorities on the subject.

Piatt, Donn. The Reverend Melancthon Poundex: a novel; il. by Edgar M. Ward. Chic., Belford Publishing Co.,] for sale by Western News Co., 206 Madison St.,] 1893.

c. 4–366 p. por. D. (Valentia ser., no. 1.) pap., 50 c.

"The Reverend Melancthon Poundex," an eminent divine, is reminded of an episode in his early life by reading the death notice of its heroine. This leads him to look up some old letters which, being interrupted while reading them, he hastily secretes in an old mattress. These letters are the indirect means of bringing about the interesting situations in a novel in which an erring minister, a woman suffragist, a disciple of free love, a talented artist and an ingenuous heroine, have important parts. The scene is in Pokohasset and New York City; scenes and characters seem to recall those of the celebrated Beecher trial.

Rathborne, St. George. Major Matterson of Kentucky: a novel. St. Paul, Minn., The Price-McGill Co., [1893.] 4–365 p. D. (Idle moments ser., no. 21.) pap., 50 c.

Major Matterson of Kentucky, while sojourning in Teheran, Persia, learns of a plot against his nephew Max, and succeeds in saving him from a ghastly death at the hands of the Parsees; on this incident and an adventure in Russia is founded a sensational novel.

Robinson, F. W. The fate of Sister Jessica. [Also] Mr. Sharshaw's shadows. N. Y., Tait, Sons & Co., [1893.] c. '91. 2–181 p. D. (Shandon ser., no. 5.) pap., 25 c.

A rich woman, fretted by the demand of a dissipated son, lies ill in a Welsh village and sends to London for a trained nurse. The nurse, Sister Jessica, dies suddenly while attending her patient, and the sick woman, knowing that her own death will financially benefit her son, whom she dearly loves, changes places with the dead nurse and becomes "Sister Jessica." Her identity is finally unexpectedly revealed. A short story, "Mr. Sharshaw's shadows," follows.

Robinson, F. W. The wrong that was done. N. Y., Lovell, Coryell & Co., [1893.] c. '91. 2–467 p. D. (The Belmore ser., no. 16.) pap., 50 c.

Baby Deborah had been sent home from Australia to her uncle and aunt Reisdale, purporting to come from a good-hearted scamp of a brother whose girl-wife had succumbed to the rough life of the bush. When she is seventeen her supposed father arrives and denies his fatherhood. The story then traces the true father through a complicated plot full of detailed detective work. The wild life of Australia and South America is depicted in strong contrast to the settled habits of middle-class Liverpool life.

"Nanon," one of George Sand's best works, was written only four or five years prior to her death. It is a story of the French revolution.

Schultz, E. Impartial investigation into the reasonableness of the doctrines of Christianity. Phil., published for the author by the Lutheran Pub. Soc., [1893.] c. '92. 264 p. D. cl., $1.25.

"Writing this book I have had three objects in view. The first is to represent to my own mind the reasons that can justly be said to support or to bear against the fundamental doctrines of Christianity. The second is a desire, innate in every sympathetic human heart, to have others share the convictions of my own mind. The third is to leave, as the fruit of my own life, labor and experience, something that may be called a permanent gain to truth in its highest sense." —Preface.

Sinclair, Brevard D. The crowning sin of the age: the perversion of marriage. Bost., H. L. Hastings, [1893.] c. '92. 2–94 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

The prevention of offspring is what the author calls "the crowning sin of the age" and "pre-eminently the sin of New England." His views were first expressed in a sermon which aroused wide-spread discussion. Following the sermon which gives title to this volume are chapters on "The reviewers reviewed," "The decay of New England," "The voice of the church," "Small families" and a collection of commendatory letters from clergymen of all faiths.

Stone, Mary E. A riddle of luck. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1893. c. 316 p. D. cl., $1.25.

In a lonely habitation on the cross-road of the open country in New England, Richard Dartmouth, who by unsuccessful writing has become a tramp, strikes a bargain with a literary ghost. For the use of the starving author's body every alternate six months the ghost undertakes to dictate to him novels and essays that publishers will compete for, pay for and publish. While his body is inhabited by the ghost his lady-love almost abandons him. This story of miracle is aimed against too prolific authorship.

Trollope, Anthony. Can you forgive her? N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1893. 3 v., 4+368; 3+360; 3+387 p. il. D. cl., $3.

This work is the first issue of the "Parliamentary series" of Trollope's novels, which were begun last autumn with the group known as "The chronicles of Barsetshire," in 13 volumes. The present series consists of "Can you forgive her?" "Phineas Finn," "Phineas Redux," "The prime minister" and "The duke's children," and forms a group by itself, many of the characters reappearing in the different novels.

Peter Stuyvesant's name is indissolubly connected with the settlement of Manhattan Island. His vigorous and impetuous character is well drawn and his many qualities as leader, his despotism and his inordinate vanity, dispassionately and fairly pointed out. The book is a concise history of New York City especially. Founded chiefly on records preserved in the City Hall in New York City.

Vacano, Emil Al. Mario. The honor of a heart: a novel; from the German, by Mary J. Safford; il. by F. A. Carter. [Also] The last Solej: a novel, by W. Bergsac; from the German. N. Y., Rob. Bonner's Sons, 1893. c. 4-265 p. D. (Ledger lib., no. 83.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

Count Oswald Kopa, a younger scion of a German noble family, is for a time estranged from his brother because of profligate habits. In this interim he becomes a student of the Latin Quartier of Paris, and forms a questionable alliance with a governess. Later, when Count Oswald is restored to favor, Fraulein Lorm reminds him that although he owes no social obligations to her he is bound to her by the "honor of the heart." How he fulfilled this bond the novel narrates.

Wagner, C: Youth; from the French, by Ernest Redwood. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1893. c. 2+291 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The author has written a dedication to the youth of America. He calls upon the young, in this age of materialism, subdivision, weariness and wear and tear, to hold fast to ideals and aspirations, and not sacrifice to short-lived comfort all that is truly worth living for. The author's hopefulness and impassioned moral sense make his words stirring and effective.

White, W: Hale, ["Mark Rutherford," pseud.] Mark Rutherford's deliverance; ed. by his friend Reuben Shapcott. N. Y., Cassell Pub. Co., 1893. 5+179 p. D. cl., $1.

The "Autobiography of Mark Rutherford" left him after giving up his career as Independent minister. This volume finds him a reporter in the House of Commons. His "deliverance" is worked out in a psychological study that is strangely up to date in its handling of the conditions of society, and completes this strong story of personal suffering and religious struggles. Contains also "Notes on the Book of Job," "Principles" and "A mysterious picture."

Wiggin, Mrs. Kate Douglas. A cathedral courtship. [Also] Penelope's English experiences; il. by Clifford Carleton. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1893. c. 5+164 p. D. cl., $1.

According to a preconceived plan, Miss Celia Van Tyck and Miss Catherine Schuyler begin their tour of English cathedral towns. In Winchester, the first on the list, Catherine accidentally meets a young architect, who later extricates her from a rather humiliating dilemma. The natural sequence of this, with humorous commentary of the hero and heroine, is brought out in their individual note-books. In the second story one of a trio of American girls recounts in a characteristic and witty way the main incidents of a visit to England, with the details of her quaint wooing.

Wright, Julia McNair. Mr. Grosvenor's daughter: a story of city life. N. Y., American Tract Soc., [1893.] 384 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

After experiencing a life of luxury with the many favorable conditions which attend great wealth, Deborah Grosvenor is compelled by reverses to exchange the pomp of Dives for the poverty of Lazarus—in brief, to experience the life of a working-girl in a great city. Her way of adapting herself to her changed circumstances is the theme of the story.

Zangwill, I. Merely Mary Ann; il. by Mark Zangwill. N. Y., Raphael Tuck & Sons, [1893.] c. 118 p. por., D. (Breezy library ser., no. 1.) pap., 50 c.

Mary Ann, the servant in a South London lodging-house, awakens the passing interest of a gentleman lodger, who accordingly proffers her some attentions with a few trifling presents As a result he captures the susceptible heart of the heroine, whose sudden accession to fortune puts the hero in an interesting dilemma, and ends a quaint love-story at once humorous and pathetic.

POSTAL REFORM.

THE New York Board of Trade and Transportation on April 13 held a meeting to discuss the subject of postage on second-class mail matter, which resulted in the adoption of the following resolution:

"Whereas, Books, periodicals, newspapers and other printed matter disseminate and preserve useful information, advance civilization and increase and facilitate business, it is wise to provide for their distribution at as low a rate as can be afforded, and as attempts to classify and discriminate have a tendency to repress or injure useful enterprises,

"Resolved, That in the opinion of this board the postage on all classes of printed matter should be uniform."

This resolution points to what may be thought the fairest method of dealing with the subject; but should its provisions be carried out they would result in increasing the postal deficit or in raising the rates on the second-class matter, while the attendant flooding of the mails with bulky packages of books, etc., would more or less seriously embarrass the delivery of other mail matter and the machinery of the postal service. In a recent communication to the Evening Post, Col. Gaylor, Assistant Postmaster of New York, gives careful consideration to the subject of postal reform, and the complications arising from the law of 1879, which included "sample copies" as second-class mail matter. The effect of this provision was the congestion of the postal machinery with tons of advertising circulars, leaflets and pamphlets, and the resultant ill-feeling, complaint and vexation between the postal authorities and many publishers and other senders of second-class matter. Col. Gaylor recommends that the provisions of the law in force prior to 1879, which confined "second-class matter" to "all newspapers, magazines and periodicals exclusively in print and regularly issued from a known office of publication, without addition by writing, word or sign, and addressed to regular subscribers," be restored, and that for sample copies a reasonable rate of postage be required.

He concludes as follows: "In brief any periodical publication—whether apparently 'primarily designed' for advertising purposes or not, or whether 'devoted to' anything or to nothing in particular, should be entitled to be forwarded by mail at a cent a pound to any person who pays an actual (not nominal) subscription price for it; but when sent to persons who do not pay such a subscription price, and to whom it is sent by the publisher as a 'sample,' postage should be prepaid thereon at a reasonable 'sample' rate—four cents a pound. If the publisher can make it so interesting that people will and do subscribe for it in sufficient numbers to make the publication profitable, it will live. If he cannot do this (and if he is debarred from gorging the mails and post-offices with 'sample copies' by reason of the high rate of postage thereon) it will die, and he will be the only mourner. No mere 'advertising sheet' would be likely to survive under these conditions."

THE BOOKSELLERS' AND STATIONERS' PROVIDENT ASSOCIATION.

AT the annual meeting of this association, which will be held at the trade salesrooms of Bangs & Co., 739 Broadway, New York, on Wednesday evening, June 7, at 8 o'clock, the following proposed amendments which have been approved by the law committee will be acted upon:

ARTICLE II.

Membership.

SEC. 1. Persons between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, of sound health and good moral character, connected with the book and stationery trades and associate branches (including unmarried women who are actually engaged in the book and stationery trades), and such other persons between the ages of 18 and 45 years as the board of trustees may deem proper to admit, may become members, if approved by the medical examiner of the association.

ARTICLE III.

SEC. 4. A member who may at any time withdraw from the association may be reinstated, provided said member has not passed the age of 45 years, by the trustees on payment of such sums as may have been imposed upon each member during his non-connection, and passing examination by a physician, as provided for in Art. II., Secs. 1 and 2.

Applications for readmission shall take the precedence of all other applications for membership.

SEC. 5. Members shall either pay dues personally in cash or remit them by draft on New York City, post-office or express money order, payable to the order of the secretary only.

ARTICLE IV.

Death Payments.

SEC. 1. Upon suitable proof of the death of any member the amount of benefit, which shall not exceed one thousand dollars, shall be paid to such person or persons as shall have been designated as hereinafter set forth by the member by reason of whose death the payment is made. Such designation must be in writing, upon a blank provided by the association and recorded by the secretary, in the order of its date, in a book kept by the secretary for that purpose. If there be more than one designation, the payment shall be made to the person or persons named in the latest designation, so recorded prior to the death of the member. If there be no such regular designation, or there be living no person named in the latest designation, the payment shall be made to the widow of the deceased member; or if there be no widow, to his children in equal proportions; or if there be no children, to the legal representatives of the deceased. Such payments shall be made only to the person actually entitled to receive the same as above provided, and in no case to a claimant under or through such actually entitled person. If no payment can be made under the foregoing provisions of this section the amount shall revert to the association.

SEC. 2. Any member may, at his desire at any time, except as hereinafter provided, effect a change as to the person or persons designated as beneficiaries, by filing with the secretary of the association a certificate setting forth that he does thereby revoke his former designations and does substitute others as therein designated in their stead, which certificate shall set forth the same particulars with reference to such other designated parties as was set forth in his original application, and shall be subscribed to by such member, and properly attested before a notary public or other officer commissioned to administer oaths, when the secretary shall make the necessary changes in the record.

ARTICLE VII.

SEC. 2. (Omit.)
SEC. 3. (Make Section 2.)

ARTICLE VIII.

SEC. 6. All payments shall be made in due course under the direction of the board of trustees.

ARTICLE XII.

SEC. 5. Whenever the secretary shall receive regular notice of the death of a member, he shall notify the claim committee. If upon investigation they shall find the claim valid, they shall authorize and direct the secretary to notify each surviving member that the sum of one dollar and ten cents is due, as provided in Article III., Sec. 2.

ARTICLE XIII.

Standing Committee.

SEC. 1. At the first meeting of the board of trustees after each annual meeting, the president shall appoint a committee on laws, a committee on claims, and an auditing committee. Each of said committees shall consist of three members, all to be appointed from the board of trustees.
SEC. 5. (Omit.)
SEC. 6. (Make Section 5.)

ARTICLE XIV.

Contingent Fund.

The initiation fee and the extra ten cents paid at initiation and upon each death, shall form the Contingent Fund of the association, from which its expenses shall be defrayed.

ARTICLE XV.

Reserve Fund.

SEC. 4. The treasurer of the association shall deposit upon interest all moneys received, in one or more incorporated trust companies or savings banks, said trust companies or savings banks to be selected by the board of trustees. All deposits are to be made for and in the name of the Reserve Fund of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association, and shall be drawn therefrom as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 5. No portion of the Reserve Fund upon deposit as hereinbefore set forth shall be withdrawn from any savings bank or trust company, where the same is deposited, at any time for any purpose whatsoever, unless upon a voucher, being an order or draft or check which shall have been signed by the president, the secretary and treasurer.

SEC. 6. The Reserve Fund so constituted shall remain intact and undiminished, and be increased from time to time during the existence of the association. The board of trustees by resolution may pay death claims from said fund when the number of deaths of which satisfactory proof have been received shall exceed twelve in any one year. Whenever a death loss shall be paid from the Reserve Fund, the amount paid the beneficiary shall be equal to the amount paid on previous death claim.

SEC. 7. The treasurer shall render a report to the board of trustees when called upon so to do, wherein he shall set forth in detail the amount of said fund and the names of the banks or trust companies in which it is invested.

A DRUMMER'S DIFFICULTIES.

THE following amusing sketch of a rehearsal scene between a Yankee "drummer" and one of his employers is taken from the Boston Commercial Bulletin: One of these gentlemen, who has recently returned from a trip for Thistle & Co. did not show a very large exhibit of orders to balance the liberal "expense" account allowed by the firm, and Mr. Thistle, after looking over his returns, said: "Mr. Rataplan, I am afraid you did not approach the dealers in the right way. I used to be very successful in this line. Now, just suppose me to be Mr. Bigher, of Sellout, Ill., and show me the way you introduce the house."

Accordingly Rataplan stepped out of the counting-room, and re-entered, hat in hand, inquiring, "Is Mr. Bigher in?" "That is my name," answered Thistle, urbanely. "My name is Rataplan, sir. I represent the house of Thistle Brothers & Co., of Boston." Thistle, in his character of Western merchant, here arose, offered the salesman a chair and expressed his pleasure at meeting him. "I am stopping with Overcharge at Stickemhouse, and have a fine unbroken lot of samples which I should like to show you. I think we can offer you some special advantages," etc., Rataplan delivering himself in a neat little speech in professional style.

"Very well, very well," said Thistle. "I don't see but that you understand the way to get customers."

"Excuse me, Mr. Thistle," said Rataplan, "I am afraid you do not understand the style of Western merchants. Now just suppose you exchange places with me, and we repeat the rehearsal."

"Certainly," said Thistle, and, picking up his hat, he stepped out. Returning, he found Rataplan with his chair tilted back, hat cocked fiercely over his right eye, his heels planted on Thistle's polished desk, and a lighted cigar between his teeth. Thistle looked a little staggered, but, nevertheless, he commenced: "Is Mr. Bigher in?" "Yes, he is," responded Rataplan, blowing a cloud of pure Connecticut into Thistle's eyes; "who the deuce are you?" "I represent the house of Thistle Brothers & Co.," said the astonished employer, coughing about a quart of smoke from his throat. "Are you of that concern, then?" "No sir, I'm not," said Thistle.

"Well, it's lucky for you that you are not, for I've had two drummers to one customer in my store for the last two months; and if I could get hold of one of the fools that sent 'em out here at this time I'm darned if I wouldn't boot 'em clean out of the town of Sellout."

"That'll do, that'll do, Mr. Rataplan," said Thistle. "I have no doubt you did the best you could for the interest of the house. Trade is a little dull."

COMMUNICATIONS.

A CARD FROM F. J. SCHULTE.

CHICAGO, May 8, 1893.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: You have no doubt learned that I made a voluntary assignment last week. As certain false statements have been made, I will ask you to give place to this brief communication. My embarrassment was caused by the suicide of Horace O'Donoghue, to whom I had given $26,000 of accommodation paper. This amount was over and above my indebtedness to O'Donoghue, amounting to about $8000. This latter amount I could have paid when due; but the accommodation paper, for which I received no consideration, and which had been discounted, I could not meet. I was compelled, therefore, to make an assignment of all my property, including my real estate. Before doing this, however, I paid in full every item of indebtedness contracted by me on my own credit. The holders of the accommodation paper will probably secure from the O'Donoghue estate what I cannot pay them, so that I am practically the only sufferer. With courage unimpaired, however, and with the good-will of the trade, I will begin again.

Yours very truly,

F. J. SCHULTE.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

"RITA" has finished two stories—"A Mere Wife" and "The Ending of My Day."

PERCY FITZGERALD is preparing a book on "Henry Irving's Twenty Years at the Lyceum."

A NEW novel by Lloyd Bryce is announced. It is to be called "Friends in Exile" and is a story of diplomatic life in foreign lands.

PRIME MINISTER GLADSTONE on the 8th inst. offered the place of Poet-Laureate, made vacant by the death of Lord Tennyson, to Ruskin.

IT is announced that Thomas Nelson Page will marry Mrs. Henry Field, of Chicago, widow of the wealthy student of art and literature.

GEORGE MEREDITH has nearly completed a novel entitled "The Amazing Marriage," which will be issued serially in Scribner's Magazine.

WALTER BESANT, the novelist, will sail on the steamship Etruria for New York on June 10. He will visit several cities in New England before leaving for Chicago.

RIDER HAGGARD has just completed a new novel, which is said to be somewhat in the manner of "Beatrice." It will probably be called "The Way of the Transgressor."

MR. HENRY B. FULLER has written a novel concerning life in a big business block in Chicago, and has given to it the odd name of "The Cliff Dwellers." It is to be published as a serial in Harper's Weekly.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS has completed his series of articles on the shores of the Mediterranean, which will shortly be published by Harper & Brothers. "The Rock of Gibraltar" is the title of the first one. They all will be illustrated.

THE DUCHESS OF CLEVELAND has been writing an historical study of "Kaspar Hauser," which is now in the hands of Macmillan & Co. This brilliant lady, now seventy-four years old, is the mother, by her first marriage, of Lord Rosebery.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALLIANCE, NEB.—E. E. Soder, bookseller, has sold out.

ATLANTA, GA.—Bolles & Bruckner, booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

BARTOW, FLA.—W. L. Andrews has sold his book and stationery store.

BEAUFORT, S. C.—J. A. Gibbes, bookseller, is arranging to sell out his business.

BLANDINSVILLE, ILL.—C. E. Ballou, stationer and bookseller, is going out of business.

CADIZ, OHIO.—N. A. Hanna, bookseller and stationer, has taken his son, S. E. Hanna, into partnership under the firm name of N. A. Hanna & Son. The junior partner will have charge of the business, as the head of the firm will give his personal attention to the post-office at Cadiz, of which he assumed charge on April 17.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Open Court Publishing Company has removed to 320–326 Dearborn Street (The Monon), Room 770.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Rational Ethics Publishing Company has been incorporated with a capital stock of $5000. Incorporators: Edward C. Wentworth, David J. Hull and William H. Maple.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Phillips Publishing Company has been incorporated at Chicago, Ill. The capital stock is $5000, and the incorporators are Isaac C. Marsh, Warwick A. Shaw and John C. F. Royer.

COLUMBIA CITY, IND.—R. T. Weihe, bookseller, is reported sold out.

DENVER, COLO.—Gardner Brothers, who have succeeded to E. H. Pierce & Co., carry periodicals and stationery in connection with their large second-hand book-store.

DES MOINES, IA.—Hartung & Carleton have succeeded Roller & Clapper, booksellers.

ERIE, PA.—James H. Vancleve has opened a book and stationery store here.

FORT WORTH, TEX.—J. S. Carruthers, bookseller and stationer at Fort Worth, Tex., has sold out to L. B. Menefee.

GRAND ISLAND, NEB.—Creditors are said to be in possession of the book-store of John Spethman.

HILLSDALE, MICH.—Geo. B. Whitney, bookseller and stationer, has sold out.

HUGOTON, KAN.—E. Fisher has succeeded to the book and stationery business of Eastham & Crawford.

INDEPENDENCE, KAN.—R. W. Elder, bookseller, has sold out to C. A. Schanck, who will take possession immediately.

IOWA CITY, IA.—Lee & Reis are advertising to close out their stock of books and stationery.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—Jacob C. Lowy, bookseller and stationer, is selling out.

NEW ALBANY, IND.—R. Gruener has closed out his news, book and stationery business and gives notice that further deliveries cannot be accepted.

NEWARK, OHIO.—Hammond & Son, booksellers, have been succeeded by Harry Edminston.

NEW YORK CITY.—Gaylord Watson, map publisher, has been sold out by the sheriff. The sale realized about $800.

NEW YORK CITY.—Richmond & Croscup have sold their retail stock of books to Dodd, Mead & Co., and will restrict themselves to the development of their subscription-book business.

NEW YORK CITY.—The firm of Mitchell's, booksellers, having been dissolved by the retirement of John J. Mitchell, Messrs. Bowden and Smith will continue the business as it was before Mr. Mitchell's connection with them under the old style of Bowden & Smith. They have taken quarters at 37 East 10th Street, and will make a specialty of Americana and early English literature.

NEW YORK CITY.—Mrs. George V. Hecker, the Misses Caroline T. and Anna W. Hecker and Messrs. W. P. O'Connor and Edward P. Slevin have organized a corporation to be known as the Catholic School Book Company, which will do business at 28 Barclay Street, with W. P. O'Connor as president, E. P. Slevin as treasurer and John Kehoe as secretary. The new company has purchased the plates, copyrights, etc., of the Young Catholics' Series, formerly published by the Catholic Publication Society, which they intend to improve where needed, and to issue, as occasion demands, new educational works.

SALEM, MASS.—The Salem Press Publishing and Printing Company assigned on the 5th inst. for the benefit of its creditors. Three of the directors recently died, and it was thought best to wind up the concern. The office has for some years been known as one of the finest equipped in New England, but has failed to make money. Eben Putnam has resigned as manager, but will continue the publication of the Monthly Historical Record.

SHERIDAN, WYO.—C. E. Carpenter, bookseller, has sold out.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.—R. F. Stanton, bookseller and newsdealer, has taken Wm. F. Leonard into partnership, and the firm will hereafter be known as Stanton & Leonard.

SPRINGFIELD, O.—W. H. Wood & Co., booksellers, have dissolved partnership. W. H. Wood continues.

PICK-UPS.

Browser (in old book-shop): How dusty one gets hauling down old books!—Towser (receiving price for books): Well, it's only a fair exchange; dust for dust. You take some away and you leave a little sum. K. G.

SHE MEANT WELL.—Have you met the literary attendant in a book-store who can give you no end of information about books and tell anecdotes about the authors who wrote them? Mr. B. went into a book-store on Washington Street not long ago. A pretty, dark-eyed little lady glided to his side. She suggested several books as worthy of his perusal.

"Do you think I'll find this interesting as a story?" asked Mr. B., holding up for her inspection a recent novel.

"Oh, dear, no; that is of no earthly use. Besides being slackly written, the idea is flat. Every one says so. We don't recommend it to our customers."

Mr. B. went out and stood on the corner, and felt dizzy for a few minutes. He wrote that book.—The Boston Globe.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

Two important publications concerning Hebrew bibliography will shortly be issued by the authorities of the British Museum, viz., a catalogue of the Hebrew books acquired by the British Museum since the issue of the catalogue in 1867, by Mr. Van Straalen; and a hand-list of the Hebrew manuscripts, by the Rev. G. Margoliouth. The latter is also at work on a hand-list of the Samaritan manuscripts in the British Museum.

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—A. Asher & Co., Berlin and London, List of works exhibited at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago. (12 p. 4°.)—*G. LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

Two Tales was suspended with the issue for April 6.

THE late T. O. H. P. Burnham, of Boston, bequeathed to Essex, Mass., his native town, $40,000, one-half for a library building and the other for a library fund.

CHARLES L. WEBSTER announces a new novel by John Kendrick Bangs, author of "Coffee and Repartee," etc. It will be entitled "Toppleton's Client," and will deal with the humorously supernatural.

THE GROLIER CLUB has on exhibition a collection of original and early editions of works of English writers from Langland to Wither. The exhibition will be open to visitors from the 13th to the 25th inst., from 10 A.M. to 12:30 P.M. and from 2 until 6 P.M.

J. M. DENT & CO. have in preparation a new edition of Fielding's novels, etc., edited with introductions by George Saintsbury, and illustrated with photogravure reproductions from drawings by Mr. E. J. Wheeler, as well as with portraits and some interesting topographical pictures. The set will occupy twelve volumes, and a complete book will be issued each month.

SAMPSON LOW, MARSTON & CO. will shortly publish under the title "Hic et Ubique" a volume containing anecdotes of Thackeray, Lytton, Gustave Doré, Napoleon III., George Cruikshank, Wellington, Disraeli, Waterloo, Eton, etc., founded principally upon the personal recollections of Sir William Fraser, the author of "Words on Wellington" and "Disraeli and His Day."

THE council of the German Börsenverein have entrusted the completing of the "History of the German Book Trade," begun by Friedrich Kapp, to Dr. Oscar von Hase, widely known as one of the firm of Breitkopf & Härtel. Dr. Hase has written much on the early history of the German book trade, and the work of continuing if not completing the history so ably begun could not have been placed in more capable hands.

THE publication of the souvenir book of the Commercial Travellers' Club of New York, of which George Knott is president, has been unavoidably delayed, but will be ready at once. The book will be 12 x 15 inches, 200 pages, full of illustrations and advertisements, and ought to grace the desk of every stationer, merchant and traveller. President Knott says that the book will be sent free to every one who will send him ten 2-cent stamps.

D. C. HEATH & CO., Boston, will issue at once "Unter dem Christbaum," five Christmas stories by Helene Stökl, edited with notes by Dr. Wilhelm Bernhardt, director of German instruction in the high schools of Washington, D. C. These tales are all very charming, and are edited with full notes for pupils in the second year of German. Their place and purpose is the same as that of the well-known "Novellette-Bibliothek," by the same editor.

A MONTHLY journal devoted to new and current publications has been started by Macmillan & Co. under the title of Book Reviews. The first issue is wholly devoted to English publications, although some of the short notes give a little news of American literary efforts. The advertising also is wholly English. There will be a monthly book-list in which all books received by the editor will be entered, but the name of the publisher will not appear. Judging by the first issue the new paper will almost wholly represent the Macmillan interests.

THE twenty-eighth anniversary meeting of the National Temperance Society, the Rev. Dr. T. L. Cuyler, president, was held on the evening of the 9th in the Broadway Tabernacle, New York City. The annual report was presented by J. N. Stearns, corresponding secretary. Thirty-six new publications were issued last year, making a total of 2056 now on the list; 25,695,721 pages of temperance literature were printed. The receipts for the year were $52,467.17, and the expenses $52,355.07. The plans for the World's Temperance Congress, to be held in Chicago next month, are nearly completed. The election for officers resulted in the choice of John Wanamaker as president, J. N. Stearns as secretary, and William D. Porter as treasurer. About 100 vice-presidents and a board of managers were also chosen.

THERE will be no limit to the number of guide-books to the World's Fair. In addition to the "official" book to be published by the Conkey Syndicate, there will be a number of others. Baedeker will issue an original volume for the United States. Schenker's Tourist Bureau in Vienna and Munich is publishing a "Guide for a Trip to Chicago." The North German Lloyd has got up a pamphlet with the title "Lloyd's Tours," with valuable information and railway maps and guides over the roads in the United States. And finally, Peter Hacherdt, in Chicago, publishes an "Exhibition Guide," which is intended to make the German visitors acquainted with the native element. In addition to these, will be a thousand and one so-called "guides" brought out by various publishers, all of whom are seeking to sell advertising space in their respective publications.

SAHEI OHASHI, the proprietor of the largest publishing house in Japan, is at present in New York City, where he will remain about two weeks to investigate the methods of our large publishing houses. The name of Mr. Ohashi's company, which is located in Tokyo, is "Hakubunkwan." It has only been in existence six years, and now issues the following periodicals: The Japanese Commercial Magazine, the Tokyo Monthly Trade Review, the Japanese Agricultural Magazine, Japanese Law, Japanese Youth, the Children's Magazine and the Women's Magazine. Some of these publications have a very large sale, the issue of the Children's Magazine being 80,000 copies monthly, which is the largest circulation in that country. The actual number of copies of books and magazines issued by the firm in a year is 10,000,000. We bespeak for our Oriental colleague a hearty welcome.

D. APPLETON & CO. have just ready the tenth and last volume of Herbert Spencer's "Synthetic Philosophy." This is the second volume of "The Principles of Ethics," in which, along with "Justice" previously published, there are now included two new parts on "Negative Beneficence" and "Positive Beneficence." For the convenience of those who already have copies of "Justice," these two new parts are issued together as a separately bound volume. Mr. Spencer has not finished, however; for there still remains to be filled up the gap left in "The Principles of Sociology." Messrs. Appleton have also just ready in the International Scientific Series a "Handbook of Greek and Latin Palæography" by Edward M. Thompson, Principal Librarian of the British Museum. This volume outlines a history of the Greek and Latin alphabets, and descriptions of various writing instruments, materials used to receive writing, forms of books, abbreviations and contractions, numerals, etc., related to the study of Roman and Grecian documents. A valuable index is appended.

OBITUARY NOTES.

COL. WARD H. LAMON, the friend and biographer of Abraham Lincoln, died in Martinsburg, W. Va., on the 9th inst. Colonel Lamon was Lincoln's private secretary, and enjoyed the most confidential relations with the martyred President. Later he became United States Marshal for the District of Columbia, and the special guardian of President Lincoln. He was a man of brilliant attainments, and his prominence in politics in the stirring days of the civil war gave him a national reputation. He continued to live in Washington long after President Lincoln's death, and there he wrote the greater portion of his "Life of Lincoln."

Stories of the Railway.

Each volume illustrated, 16mo, uncut edges, paper, 50 cents; cloth, 75 cents; half calf, $1.50.

The series of "Stories from Scribner," of which the foregoing are the first two volumes, is to include six volumes containing many of the best stories that have appeared in Scribner's Magazine in recent years, grouped under attractive subjects, charmingly illustrated and daintily and tastefully made. In the matter of the binding, typography, paper and illustration, the attempt has been successfully made to rival the best of similar French productions.

Women of the Valois Court.

From the French of I. DE SAINT-AMAND. Famous Women of the French Court. With six portraits. 12mo, $1.25.

Several new volumes are to be added to this popular series, differing from their predecessors in that they each describe the lives of several women and contain numerous portraits. The women whose careers are pictured in this first volume are Marguerite d'Angoulême, Catherine de Medicis, Diane de Poitiers, Marie Stuart, Elizabeth de France, Jeanne d'Albret, Marguerite de Valois, Elizabeth d'Autriche and Louise de Vaudemont.

Outlines of English Literature.

By WILLIAM RENTON, of the University of St. Andrews. University Manuals. 12mo, $1.00, net.

Prof. Renton's treatment is original and individual, and will commend itself to readers for its clearness and its large philosophical grasp of the subject. The diagrams prefacing the chapters give a helpful view of the essential characteristics of each period, and the book has other unique features.

The Profession of Bookselling,

A Handbook of Practical Hints for the Apprentice and Bookseller.

BY A. GROWOLL,
Managing Editor of "The Publishers' Weekly."

"The author has collected a stupendous mass of information on his subject, and manages to impart his knowledge with admirable brevity and clearness. . . . It treats of everything that he ought to know, and of most things in which he can be even remotely interested. . . . If accuracy and fulness of information avail, the young man who masters Mr. Growoll's book can scarcely help making his mark in the world."—London Publishers' Circular.

"A volume, attractively printed, that deserves a place among reference-books by reason of its bibliography. Here are lists of works fitted to impart to the bookseller (and to the general reader) a general knowledge of the field of English and American literature, of Continental literature, of the classical and oriental, etc.; lists of trade catalogues, of library catalogues, of trade journals and literary journals; and a broad reference library. . . . For its main purpose this is an excellent manual."—The Nation.

"Booksellers in this country [England] will find this work both useful and entertaining."—London Bookman.

"We wish to give you our advance order for that most valuable series of articles—'The Profession of Bookselling'—and wish to thank you for publishing in book form one of the most useful tools the trade has had placed in its hands for a long time."—THE FIELD & GIBB BOOK AND STATIONERY CO., Lawrence, Kansas.

New Publications.

A New Volume by JAMES MATTHEW BARRIE.

Two of Them.

By JAMES MATTHEW BARRIE, author of "The Little Minister," "A Window in Thrums," etc., etc. With ten full-page illustrations. 12mo, cloth gilt, $1.25. Illustrated Series. Paper, 50 cents.

In "Two of Them, and Other Stories," Mr. Barrie has given us a book after the manner of "When a Man's Single." It is in the lighter vein of the humorous English journalist, rather than in that of the strong and quaint depicter of Scottish character. Perhaps for this reason, among those at least who have not mastered the lowland Scottish Doric, the book is likely to have a wider and more general sale. The stories are bright and entertaining, with frequent flashes of the quiet humor which illuminates the series of Scottish character-studies. "A Holiday in Bed," "My Husband's Book" and "Our New Servant" are a trilogy of domestic pictures worthy of the pen of a Dickens. "The Inconsiderate Waiter," besides its fun, touches us by its tender and subdued pathos. Half a dozen of the sketches are literary and semi-critical, and most remind the reader of the author of "An Edinburgh Eleven." All of them are delightful reading, and will add pleasantly to the reader's knowledge of the striking literary and intellectual qualities of one of the strongest and most picturesque of modern writers.

RECENTLY ISSUED:

A Tillyloss Scandal.

By J. M. BARRIE, author of "The Little Minister," "A Window in Thrums," "When a Man's Single," etc., etc. THE ONLY COMPLETE EDITION. 12mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.00. Belmore Series. Paper, 50 cents.

"The tale is a delightful one, and one which is worthy to be placed with the idyls of Thrums."—Boston Courier.

"'A Tillyross Scandal' is a most attractive tale, and is characterized by many of the charming qualities that distinguish 'The Little Minister.'"—New York World.

The Other House.

By KATE JORDAN. Illustrated Series. Paper, 50 cents; also, 8vo, cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

"A story of exceptional interest."—Philadelphia Press.

"The book is delightfully written; the hero and heroine are strong, human characters."—Detroit Free Press.

"The story is strong and unconventional. Miss Jordan has drawn the characters of both hero and heroine skilfully."—New York Press.

The Wrong That Was Done.

By F. W. ROBINSON, author of "The Keeper of the Keys," "Our Erring Brother," etc. Belmore Series. Paper, 50 cents; also, 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"This story of an elderly man's love which turns out happily in the end is related with the skill of a practised writer of fiction, and the interest is well sustained throughout. The characters are naturally presented and the incidents are exciting without being over-sensational."—Boston Gazette.

The Penance of Portia James.

By TASMA, author of "Uncle Piper of Piper's Hill," "A Sydney Sovereign," etc. Belmore Series. Paper, 50 cents; also, 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"This new novel by 'Tasma' is thoroughly readable; it has the freedom and breadth of touch that prove the author has seen and known the world beyond the sound of the bells of her native town. The theme of this novel is serious, but quite within the scope of the material of fiction; it is treated with a light and skilful hand, and it fully attains effectiveness and interest."—Boston Literary World.
